

MARYVILLE UNIVERSITY - ATHLETIC CENTER EXPANSION

KWAME provided construction management services for the $1.1 million expansion of Maryville University's John E. and Adaline Simon Athletic Center.

The student fitness center was expanded to 3,100 square feet, with a new workout room and state-of-the-art exercise equipment. The 4,260-square-foot athletic staff offices also were relocated within the athletic center and completely renovated. The offices feature a high-tech conference room for video viewing.

Kwame took steps to ensure the safety of students and staff during construction, which took place on an active campus.

ACI Boland provided architectural design.
