

ST. LOUIS PUBLIC SCHOOLS - CLYDE C. MILLER CAREER ACADEMY

The Clyde C. Miller Career Academy is a new vocational/technical high school built on the same site as the existing Vashon High School. The goal was to simultaneously modify the existing high school while meeting the requirements necessary to complete the new vocational school.

Throughout the design process, KWAME provided program management services as part of the owner/architect/engineer team, including planning and programming sessions as well as periodic design reviews. The KWAME team also handled the bidding process, made recommendations for contractor selections, provided on-site management and processed contractual pay applications.

Construction Cost: $25 Million
